

Programme Specific Outcome (under CBCS Curriculum)

Department of Economics

Course: B.A./B.Sc

Subject: Economics Honours

1. Economics is a subject that deals with limited resources and unlimited wants. The Economics Honours students, after completion of graduation, will be able to understand the behavioural pattern of several economic agents and the theories put behind it under.
2. The students will be familiar with the study of General equilibrium along with partial equilibrium, without which the practical state of economy cannot be analysed.
3. The part of the programme emphasising broadly on the advanced theories of Macroeconomics along with the traditional theories will make the subject extremely interesting to the students.
4. Through this programme the learners will be able to gather knowledge on several essential statistical methods which help them build the analytical tools efficiently.
5. The students will be acquainted how mathematical tools can be applied in the theory of Economics.
6. Econometrics, a special field of application in Economics, is taught in the programme through which the students will be able to learn how to verify Economic theory with the knowledge of Statistics.
7. The students will be acquainted with the theory of development propounded by eminent Economists and also its relevance to tackle the problem of developing economies.
8. Without Indian economy, the programme remains incomplete. The programme successfully delivers the lesson on Indian Economy.
9. The students will be acquainted with the strategies of the rural development and strategies adapted thereof.
10. International Economics and related trade policies play crucial role in the field of Economics and the theoretical knowledge will be imparted through the programme.
11. Economic History of India in the British colonial period is of immense importance in order to understand the present Indian economy and the programme will throw light on the historical perspective.
12. The learners will also gather knowledge on Public Finance through this programme.
13. The learners will also be acquainted with the basic concept of managerial economics.
14. The programme also will focus on comparative economic development of various countries such as China , Japan , Latin America , USSR etc.
15. The learners will also learn how to pursue a project emphasising broadly on literature survey and analysis of data.
16. The students will also be acquainted with the financial market and monetary systems of an economy.